"I'm doing everything I can but I'm not seeing the success I hoped for ..."

For Adult Literacy Practitioners

One of six info sheets about the effects of violence on learning

- ✓ Learn more about how violence affects learning.
- ✓ Identify approaches to program delivery that promote more effective teaching and learning.

Dealing with the impact of violence on learning is not as difficult as you might think. It may transform some of your most frustrating challenges, and lead to more success for everyone.

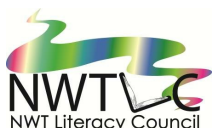

We're the family, youth and adult literacy and essential skills centre for excellence.

We support literacy and essential skills in all the official languages of the Northwest Territories.

We're also plain language specialists.

Start preparing for NWT Literacy Week

The theme for this year's NWT Literacy Week, September 25 to October 1 is: Tied to Tech. We thought this would be a good time for all of us to explore our relationship with technology. Are you making it work for you or is it taking over your life? Go to our website for ideas to help you examine your use of technology at your home, school, workplace and community.

Federal government consulting on accessibility

The Government of Canada is planning new accessibility legislation to promote equality of opportunity and increase the inclusion of Canadians who have disabilities or functional limitations. There is an in-person consultation session in Yellowknife on September 26 at the Tree of Peace Friendship Centre. You can pre-register or find other ways to participate in the consultation online.

AlphaPlus provides training, services, tools and resources to adult literacy agencies and educators in Canada. Its online technology training webinars schedule is now posted.

Funding

Apply now for family literacy funding

The NWT Literacy Council has funding for community family literacy projects. The criteria for projects and application form are on our website. Applications are accepted on an ongoing basis for projects to be completed by March 31, 2017.

Get Active fund application deadline is October 6, 2016.

Get Active funds community events that get people more physically active in the NWT. Community organizations are encouraged to apply for $750 or $1000 to organize and deliver three community-oriented physical activity events.

New community fund for Canada's 150th anniversary

The Yellowknife Community Foundation is accepting applications for local projects that build community, inspire a deeper understanding of Canada, and encourage participation in a wide range of activities that mark Canada's 150th anniversary. The application deadline is September 30, 2016.

News, Opinion, and Research

Once your kids can read easy books, start reading them hard ones

In the annals of great parenting moments, the one where the kids clamber onto the couch by themselves with their very own longish-book is an awesome one. They've mastered the de-coding, they've got the sounds, and they can follow a simple plot. Time to kick back and watch them lose themselves in literature, right?...Read more

Detroit civil rights lawsuit attempts to assert a constitutional right to literacy

Jamarria Hall can't stomach walking into his high school on Detroit's east side some days. The classrooms are hot, water fountains don't work and only 2.2% of students last year achieved college-ready scores in reading and English...Read more

Our misguided effort to close the achievement gap is creating a new inequality: The 'play' gap

"Play is the primary engine of human growth. It's universal - as much as walking and talking." That's what Nancy Carlsson-Paige, an early childhood development expert, wrote in this post about just how "twisted" early childhood education that ignores the value of play has become...Read more
